

Mobile Apps Development

Technology Use Contract

This contract is a requirement for attendance in the Mobile Apps Development class. Due to the rigors of the curriculum it is essential that classroom procedures be followed and students stay focused and on-task. If you are playing games, or otherwise disengaged from the class, you will not only lose valuable instruction time, but also be a distraction to the other students. Because of the nature of computer use, I cannot effectively monitor your adherence to the rules at all times therefore you must be mature enough to accept the responsibility that comes with the privilege of taking this class.

If you do not agree with this contract, or feel that you cannot adhere to the rules, please do not sign it. You may see the counselor to be assigned another class.

I, _____, promise to adhere to the following rules:

1. All assignments must be written by the individual submitting them.
2. Absolutely no unapproved computer games at ANY time during the school year.
3. Approved games only when given special permission by Mrs. Prince.
4. No internet use unless it is on an approved website. Approved websites include the following (list may be expanded at the teacher's discretion):
 - a. www.mobileappslhs.weebly.com (our class website) and all links found on it
 - b. No Social Network websites (Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, Pinterest, etc) at any time
 - c. App Inventor
 - d. Xcode
 - e. Websites with information about the software we are using in class
 - f. Websites required to research the material for the assignments and projects
 - g. YouTube, ONLY when watching class related video
 - h. Weebly
5. You may not do work for another class in Mobile Apps Development without permission.
6. You must obtain permission to use the class printers for another class.

Violation of the above class rules will result in a detention and/or loss of computer privileges. Repeated violations will result in a parent/teacher/student conference.
